

“Bristol 650 is a year-long celebration of all things Bristol: who we are, where we are from, what we've done – and where we're going. It's a chance to tell untold histories, mark city anniversaries and welcome new arrivals.”

www.visitbristol.co.uk

As part of a National Lottery Heritage Funded project coordinated by Bristol Ideas celebrating the 650th anniversary of Bristol as an independent county, Local Learning is working with communities across the city exploring our local heritage to create a community atlas showing how Bristol has grown.

After the Second World War, Bristol needed more land for house building. The last significant extension to the city in 1951 pushed Bristol out to its southern limit, bringing the medieval village of Bishopsworth into the city area and leading to the construction of Withywood, Hartcliffe and Stockwood.

Focusing on growing up in Hartcliffe and Withywood, school life and learning outside of the classroom, we would like to explore what education means for local people today and in the past.

Did you go to school locally?

Maybe you can recall walking in your wellies before the roads were built?

Perhaps you have parents or grandparents who remember taking their children to Hartcliffe nursery?

Bring your photos, memorabilia and memories of living and growing up in the area to

HARTCLIFFE NURSERY

WEDNESDAY 10TH JANUARY

11.15am - 12.45pm

*Looking into the window of an Easiform flat, 1952
Image courtesy of Historic England*

Find out more

- about Bristol Ideas' citywide Bristol650 initiative at www.bristolideas.co.uk/projects/bristol-650/
- about Local Learning's involvement with communities as part of Bristol650 at www.locallearning.org.uk/bristols-shape-shifting-history
- or email ruth@locallearning.org.uk